1st clone of US endangered species, a ferret, announced

Scientists have cloned the first U.S. endangered species, a black-footed ferret duplicated from the genes of an animal that died over 30 years ago.

The slinky predator named Elizabeth Ann, born Dec. 10, 2020 and is cute as a button. But watch out — unlike the domestic ferret foster mom who carried her into the world, she's wild at heart.

Elizabeth Ann was born and is being raised at a Fish and Wildlife Service black-footed ferret breeding facility in Fort Collins, Colorado. She's a genetic copy of a ferret named Willa who died in 1988 and whose remains were frozen in the early days of DNA technology.

"Biotechnology and genomic data can really make a difference on the ground with conservation efforts," said Ben Novak, lead scientist with Revive & Restore, a biotechnology-focused conservation nonprofit that coordinated the ferret and horse cloning.

‘Never before seen’ yellow penguin snapped by wildlife photographer

A wildlife photographer believes he has snapped a “never before seen” yellow penguin after seizing a “once-in-a-lifetime opportunity” in the Atlantic. This extremely rare specimen can’t help but stand out among its more commonly seen black and white buddies. It is said to be the “first ever” yellow penguin to be discovered, according to photographer Yves Adams.

Yves snatched his camera after spotting the unusual bird shining bright among its 120,000 counterparts on a colony at Salisbury Plain and described the experience as “incredible unique” – revealing how the crew went “crazy” when they noticed the bird. “I’d never seen or heard of a yellow penguin before.” the snapper said.

“There were 120,000 birds on that beach and this was the only yellow one there.” “They all looked normal except for this one. It was an incredibly unique experience.” Yves believes the bird is heuristic, explaining: “Its cells don’t create melanin anymore so its black feathers become this yellow and creamy colour.” He added: “We all went crazy when we realised.” “We were so lucky the bird landed right where we were. Our view wasn’t blocked by a sea of massive animals. Normally it’s almost impossible to move on this beach because of them all.”

《歲月靜好：蔣勳日常功課》

書評作者：黃素珊老師

著名畫家、詩人與作家蔣勳先生，把他的文章以二十四節氣為時序，歸入屬於它們的節氣。全書百餘篇，寫的是蔣先生於日常生活中，面對人生、面對社會和面對大自然的省思。

也許對很多人來說，二十四節氣是陌生的。因為科技的進步，自然和氣候的變化與否，對我們的生活似乎影響不大——夏天躲在冷氣間，冬天則有暖氣可用，所以我們對自然的變化關心不再……然而，遺忘了自然，損失的，終究是我們。

因為當世間滿是紛擾，只有在「靜看山靜雲閒，靜聽鳥啼花放」時，你才能真正的感受到什麼是「歲月靜好」。

Sophie's World

9B 11 Fung See Tsai

Have you ever wondered about our existence, the existence of reality, and the existence of everything? If you do, don't worry, you're not the only one! These questions were all asked by philosophers, like Plato, Socrates, Aristotle, Descartes, etc. I never really had an interest in "weird" questions like these, until my dad introduced me to the book Sophie's World.

Sophie's World is... actually it's rather difficult to categorize it under a certain genre. The storyline itself is fictional but the information stated in the book is all non-fictional facts. The book is written by Jostein Gaarder, a real-life philosopher who decided to write this book to simplify and introduce philosophy to the world.

The story started with Sophie Amundsen, a normal schoolgirl with a normal life. She never expected anything special to happen to her. That was until a mysterious person sent her a letter. It started with a single question "Who are you?". To us, we'd just say our name. Yet, to Sophie, it was enough to let her doubt her existence. The questions slowly grew more difficult, like "Where did the world come from?" and eventually letters with philosophical answers came to her mailbox. The mysterious person eventually volunteered to be her philosophy teacher. He asked Sophie questions before he introduced a philosophical theory and answered them with great clarity. This mysterious philosopher opened her eyes to the world like no one ever before.

Sophie's World

Sounds boring, right? I agree. That was my first thought when my dad introduced it. However, as you read on, you'll realize the mysterious philosophy teacher doesn't only open up Sophie's eyes, it also opens the readers' -- our -- eyes. The more I read the book, the more convinced I was that the author was the philosopher, and I was Sophie, his student. It made me acknowledge how little we really know about the world. The more I thought of how little I knew, the more curious I was to find out more. It also showed what a difficult path it is to study philosophy. Whenever Sophie discussed philosophical questions with her mother, her mother never understood her. Her mother would think that she was going through puberty, or even got worried she was sick. Yet, she was determined to learn more about philosophy, and so am I, as I continue to struggle understanding the theories the mysterious teacher taught.

The book is one of the few ones that brightens your thinking and lets you rethink everything you've ever known. The answers in the book also let you understand more about the world. It would take a long time to read the book, as the book requires you to think in order to understand. However, the book will be worth the time, as it lets you see the world like you have never before.

The Midnight Library

11C 14 Leung Sin Tung

“What would have happened if I had done things differently?” “I wish I had never done that. Life would have been so much easier.” “Where would I be now if I had chosen a different path?” These thoughts linger in our heads time after time. Regrets — a single word carrying overflowing emotions of sorrow and agony — are intrinsically a part of our day-to-day lives as humans. They are unavoidable, yet are what we humans desperately try to dodge. Ending the day dwelling on regrets and pondering the things that we could have done otherwise have become a norm. We fantasize about scenarios in which events play out in the way we want them to. In The Midnight Library, these thoughts no longer stay as fantasies. The recent fictional novel written by Matt Haig dives deep into the realms of life and death, as well as the countless regrets of the main protagonist, Nora Seed, who is perhaps a simulacrum of every single one of us.

The novel narrates the story of Nora Seed, a 35-year-old woman, whose life had been nothing short of heartbreaking: Nora’s dad passed away when she was as young as 16, her mom passed away three months before her supposed wedding, Nora backed out from the said wedding just two days prior, and her tense relationship with her brother. With the addition of her cat dying from a car crash, and Nora being terminated from both of her part-time jobs as a music shop worker and a piano teacher on the same day, Nora had reached the peak state of helplessness and despair. The devastation resulted in her attempt to end her life, to put herself out of misery. She soon awoke in the Midnight Library, with the librarian whom Nora recognized as her old school librarian, Mrs. Elm. Between life and death situated the Midnight Library, in which every book held an opportunity for Nora to try another life she could have lived, to undo her regrets. With this, Nora tried out almost all the lives she could possibly imagine: a life in which she did not call off her wedding, a life where she kept her cat indoors to avoid the car crash, a life where her dad was still alive... In one life she was an Olympic champion. In one life she was a glaciologist. In one life she was in a popular musical band. However, she shortly realized that her quest to find the “perfect” life remained as elusive as ever. Her married life was not as merry as she envisioned, her cat still died due to an illness, the loss of her mother was unable to be altered, and she was still on antidepressants despite having a successful career.

The Midnight Library

It is fascinating how, despite the exploration of profound themes like life and death, plus the constant references to complex concepts of philosophy and quantum physics, a prominent trait the book displays is, ironically, its simplicity. There are no plot twists, no grand writing styles, no usage of highly sophisticated language, just pure straightforwardness. During a life when Nora was researching glaciers in the Arctic Circle, she met Hugo who was also a fellow “slider” — a term they used for people who were suspended between life and death. They once discussed how human brains perpetually dumb the world down into an understandable story that keeps things simple, that everything humans see is a simplification. For instance, how humans see the world in three dimensions; how humans look at a tree with interspersed branches and leaves and call it a “tree”; how humans straighten out curved streets in their minds, hence why they get lost all the time. These are all simplifications. Perhaps this is what Haig wanted to accomplish with The Midnight Library— simplicity. He brilliantly used a library as a simple representation of the many-worlds interpretation of quantum physics, a theory which suggests that there is an infinite number of parallel universes, where every possible outcome is realized in some universe. An insanely complicated concept, yet Haig was able to make it comprehensible for average readers like me. His writing is pared-down and simple, nothing out of this world, but it is what makes it raw and authentic.

Though the plotline is more like a straight line than an anfractuous path, what keeps the story entertaining is the character development of Nora. At the very beginning, Nora was a vulnerable woman living a lackluster life full of regrets with no reason to keep moving on. Through her different “trips” in the Midnight Library, we get to see a gradual change in her view of life. Before, all she wanted was to bring her life to a halt; after a near-death experience of a polar bear attack, she realized that she actually wanted to live. She realized that there is no way of living that is immune to sadness. Although Nora woke up from the Midnight Library to the exact condition she had been in before— laid off, parentless, and no longer a cat owner, there was a spark of hope. Although her physical environment did not change at all, her perspective did, and this is all that matters.

Book Reports

The Midnight Library

I believe everyone reading the book will be able to relate to Nora to a certain degree, some more than others. Like Nora, there are times when I wished I had done something different and had hoped that I had the power to turn back time to undo all my mistakes and regrets. My book of regrets may be as thick as Nora's. It is easy to miss the friends that we did not make and the events we did not attend and the conversations that we did not take part in. Towards the end, Nora mentioned that "It is not the lives we regret not living that are the real problem. It is the regret itself. It's the regret that makes us shrivel and wither and feel like our own and other people's worst enemy." This struck a chord with me. We often spend time dwelling on our regrets, entangling ourselves with our own minds, enabling our self-destruction mode when we could have used the time to be more productive, to live the future that contains endless possibilities.

Midnight. 00:00:00. It is the end of a day but also the start of a new one— a symbol of renewal and hope. The Midnight Library is one of the few novels that is able to tug at my heartstrings. Simple yet profound; succinct yet sentimental; direct yet inspirational. This riveting and thought-provoking tale will be especially comforting for those who seek solace and reassurance.

《練習簿》

在這部作品中，我感觸最深的是名為〈成績表〉的故事。作者借一張成績表的自白，帶出從一位天資平平的學生陳志強身上看到的各種現象。

作者借「成績表」之口，提到成績表本身是判斷學生成績優劣的證據、是反映老師能力的明鏡，更是學校水平的指標。這正正是現今社會為人詬病的現象之一。人們凡事只會盲目相信自己片面的所見所聞，完全沒有留意還有其他的可能性。在現今社會，人們以成績表的分數來判定一個學生的好壞；從一個人的職業、財富和社會地位，斷定一個人的高低貴賤；從相貌和衣著打扮，決定一個女生是女神還是刁婦……難道世上沒有成績優異的黑道小混混和混淆是非的衣冠禽獸嗎？世人從單一的角度看事物，不就像是盲人摸象嗎？盲人只摸到大象的一部分，卻認定整頭大象的外形如自己所摸到的一樣。盲人失去了雙目，無法辨別真偽，他們的以偏概全尚可理解，但身體健全的一般人呢？

「成績表」因為自己身上記錄著陳志強五科不合格，便認定他是失敗者。它認為陳志強的為人處世、對待事情的態度，還有他的品行都是零價值的，因為這些都沒記錄在「成績表」上。它更否定了陳志強寒窗苦讀的時光和上課積極認真的態度。「成績表」的看法，不正是很多人衡量一個學生能力的角度嗎？學校的存在，不是只傳授知識，更重要的是培養學生成為品行端正的人。成績表上沒有這些欄目，難道就可以忽略這些表現的重要性嗎？但諷刺的是，社會上很多人並不關心一個學生的品行是否良好，他們只會靠成績表上的學科成績來判斷他的能力。

《練習簿》

〈成績表〉提到陳志強熱愛畫漫畫，但因為「成績表」上沒有漫畫一欄，故將陳志強的喜好歸類為不務正業，更把他繪畫漫畫的天分貶為「地底泥」。後來陳志強的母親更將被她視為陳志強考試失手的元兇——漫畫圖稿丟進垃圾箱。在現實中，一個人如選擇以漫畫家、藝術家為職業，往往會被人認為這是走上三餐不繼的不歸路，父母好友亦會對他的選擇予以否定，卻無視了他對這些職業的付出和熱愛。國家主席習近平曾說：「人生本平等，職業無貴賤。」難道只因職業並不是主流社會認為的有前途、有可觀的收入，就要被人看不起嗎？

總括而言，作者以「成績表」代入了一般人的視角，以隱晦的方式帶出了不少耐人尋味的社會問題，令人行思坐想。另外，作者筆下的〈成績表〉以尖酸的態度對陳志強作出片面批評，令讀者對他心生憐憫之餘，亦令我們對故事要傳遞的信息更印象深刻。

不論《何者》的小說版還是電影版，都同樣講述五位於御山大學畢業在即的大學生求職的故事，他們在同一時間內面對理想與現實的矛盾，在求職過程中為了自己未來的生活著想而失去了自我。例如：小說內的我(即二宮拓人)在大學時代積極地參與星球劇團的表演，亦曾參與創作，希望能成為專業的舞台演員及創作人，揚言「我要靠自己，做自己想做的事。不求職。活在舞台上。」此理想化的拓人不曾繼續在其同名的電影版內存在，拓人由佐藤健飾演，電影對他的理想著墨不多，只偶爾在他求職時參與筆試和面試的過程中加插他過往在舞台上演出的畫面，刻意淡化了他對舞台劇及表演的熱愛，只在影片末段他講述自己熱愛舞台劇卻不可能賴以維生的矛盾時才加插了較多昔日他演出及創作的片段；反而小說版著意用文字顯露他的心理狀態，他勉強地參與求職面試卻「心不在此」，當他完成求職面試後覺得自己獲取錄的機會不高時，會自述「我大概，會被刷掉吧。……即使被刷掉也不要緊。我不可思議地這麼想著。」可見小說版比電影版更深刻地描寫他心底裡理想與現實的矛盾，因為前者從正反兩個角度刻劃他堅持理想的執著，而後者卻只聚焦於現實中賺錢過活的需求對他造成的龐大壓力，對他熱愛舞台演出的描述只限於其在舞台劇內演出的片段，流於浮光掠影式的表面化呈現，不及前者描寫其矛盾的文字能給予讀者刻骨銘心的印象。

另一方面，理想中的拓人與現實中的他亦產生很嚴重的衝突，導致他在推特(Twitter)內開啟了兩個帳號，一個是理想中的自己，另一個是現實中的自己；當他的同學理香發現了他理想中的自己的那個帳號後，察覺理想與現實的他有這麼大的差異時，便有前所未有的激烈反應，《何》的小說版與電影版同樣從她的角度側寫他雙重的性格特質及其截然不同的內心世界。前者運用不少發自內心的文字描寫現實中欠缺自信的他，例如：「我發出比想像中更小的聲音。不禁暗自詛咒自己的沒用。」顯露他含蓄內斂而缺乏膽量的個性，與她複述他在理想中的自己的推特帳號內說自己「受不了沒有想像力的人」及評價她與隆良在同學面前「拿出漂亮的餐具……那是因為他們兩人在對方面前還保持著王子公主的形象」的大膽批判的性格大相逕庭；後者以畫面代替文字，但保留了不少由她說出的對白，依靠演員佐藤健靜態隱藏的身體語言表現其含蓄的個性，卻只能單調地以他在手機內的文字表現其大膽批判的個性。可見電影版未能靈活地以影像的特性表現男主角雙重個性的特質，如要深入了解他，可能小說版比電影版更能清晰地反映他的內心世界。

很明顯，小說版文字的魅力比電影版的畫面更勝一籌，前者對拓人生理反應的描寫充分展露其相應的心理狀態，而後者卻未能依靠佐藤健的演出展露類似的情緒反應。例如：後者描述理香在他面前揭露他隱藏的推特帳號內另一種個性的自己時，他只一臉無奈，神情木訥，不知道如何回應她，卻未能把前者描述的「身體的內部不斷發燙」及「心臟的高溫，從脊髓的正中央向上竄升」的狀態，即其心理影響生理的身體即時反應形象化地表現出來。可見電影導演及編劇三浦大輔未能成功地拿捏原著小說中他的內心感受，導致其難以精準地調教演員的演出，遑論能深刻地表現他求職時及個性上理想與現實的矛盾。如要了解《何》的作者朝井遼如何跟隨自己的生命軌跡描繪同輩年輕人遇上的掙扎與心境轉折，理應細心地閱讀小說版對他們心理狀態的精煉描寫，電影版最多只能成為小說版的「附庸」。
